

This picture portrays a man who is very Old therefore representing one of the Three types of suffering; according to Dukha.

These are two pictures of sacrificial victims In other words they are dead. Again portraying One of the three types of suffering.

This is a man in his casket at his funeral. Another victim of death.

This reminded me of Ignorance one of the mental Poison according to Dukha. These men are bronzed, Therefore untouchable. Nothing can strike them Down because it cannot reach them.

The man in this picture has infected wounds. He could be on the verge of death or a patient of illness.
