

MAY 2013

P/ID 4415/PGEF

Time : Three hours

Maximum : 100 marks

SECTION A — (10 × 2 = 20 marks)

Answer ALL questions not exceeding 50 words each.

All questions carry equal marks.

Write a notes on:

1. Demography
2. Literacy
3. Fertility Rate
4. Natural Increase
5. Malthus
6. Dry point settlement
7. Hamlet
8. Von Thunen
9. Optimum population
10. Suburban

SECTION B — (5 × 6 = 30 marks)

Answer ALL questions not exceeding 250 words each.

All questions carry equal marks.

11. (a) Elaborate on the relationship between population studies and Sociology.

Or

- (b) What are the sources of population data?

12. (a) What are the factors that affects the fertility of a population?

Or

- (b) Describe the population growth theory of Marx.

13. (a) Briefly describe the functional classification of towns.

Or

- (b) Briefly describe Rovenstein's laws of migration.

14. (a) Briefly explain the growth pole concept.

Or

(b) Briefly explain the Von Thunen's theory.

15. (a) What are the different classes of urban areas according to the census of India?

Or

(b) What are the characteristics of the rural urban fringe?

SECTION C — (5 × 10 = 50 marks)

Answer ALL questions not exceeding 500 words each.

All questions carry equal marks.

16. (a) Write an essay on the nature and scope of Population Geography.

Or

(b) Give an account of the distribution of population of the world.

17. (a) Give a detailed account of the determinants of migration and its consequences.

Or

- (b) Write an essay on any one of the urban land use.

18. (a) Give an account of the types and patterns of rural settlement in India.

Or

- (b) Write an essay on the factors affecting the site and situation of rural settlements.

19. (a) Write an essay on the growth of urbanisation.

Or

- (b) Give an account of the multi-nuclei theory of urban land use.

20. (a) Compare the rural settlements of the accidental and the oriental world.

Or

- (b) Write an essay on the morphology of Indian cities.