

Potsalvia, located just above the equator, is a prime example of a country that could be prosperous in the future. The climate is mostly warm, considering Potsalvia is located close to the equator, but in the mountainous areas, Potsalvia is cooler. There are many topographical features located on Potsalvia. This includes mountains, rivers, lakes, grasslands, evergreen and deciduous trees.

The main raw materials that Potsalvia harvests are wood, iron, coffee, soybeans, wheat, rice, corn, sugar cane, citrus, cocoa, and beef. Potsalvia also produces steel and chemicals. All these different resources help us produce more exports that bring in more money for our country and help other countries who lack these specific items.

The government in Potsalvia rules in favor of what is good for the country, not necessarily what the people want for the country. We will have a voting system that allows our citizens to choose who will run their country. Also a strict criteria to become any type of leader in Potsalvia. We will give government grants to companies and schools when it is absolutely necessary to have money in order to keep a stable economy and country.

Every business has to sign a contract saying that they will practice all the rights we have created. Minimum wage will be $13.50 a week, with a 5-cent increase every eight months. Every worker is entitled to a lunch and two breaks every workday. Also every worker will get 14 paid sick days and 2 weeks paid vacation. Sexual harassment and racial discrimination will not be tolerated. If there is an issue the company cannot handle, it will be brought to a higher power, the Business Court.

Government will control the cleanliness of the building, give loans to companies with low rates and provide schooling for employees in need of further learning in order to complete the job more productively. The government can control some parts of the company if the company is not doing well. The government can also exercise surprise checkups on the company to see if the advancement of the company is prosperous.

The main goal of the government will be to acquire as many business contacts as possible. Providing trade ports and trading conventions will bring more lenders from around the world to Potalvia. Supplying the country and possible business contacts with transportation shows that Potalvia is serious about business expansion.

The government will set a broad example of what should be done in the certain business, however the business can change things with the approval of the government. The government will provide information like the market price, availability, and need or want for the item to the businesses of Potalvia to further aid the business.
