

Romeo and Juliet

Why was Romeo's love for Juliet terminated. Fate or not? Well they met at the royal ball of the Montagues until Romeo noticed Juliet. Finally they kissed and were a couple. They had Friar Lawrence to help them to be married since they were Capulet and Montague the worst enemies. Tybalt was killed by Romeo in a fight on the street and Romeo was banished for life from Verona never to be seen or heard of again. Romeo resorted to Friar Lawrence for aid. As did Juliet. The Friars plan was to give Juliet a drug to make it look as though she was dead and yet she wasn't. Romeo finally went to get his bride to be not getting the letter about the plan and is devastated of the news that his love was dead. Finally they meet as Romeo stabs a dagger into his heart because life couldn't go on any longer. Juliet finally awakens and sees that Romeo is dead and kills herself as well. Fate was a very big factor here and for the rest of the two families hopefully this wrongful deed will clear up any mishaps they have towards one another. Friar Lawrence shows up at the scene realizing what has happened and what he has done.